8. Reading: Personal Messages and Authentic Texts

Journal your own experiences, including the date, where you were, what you were reading.

I can read one or two words that I have learned.

I can understand a short note or message that uses very familiar words I have learned.

I can understand the main idea and a few details of a story that includes pictures [i.e., a comic book].

I can understand the main idea and several details of a magazine article on a familiar topic.

I can understand the main idea and details of an authentic play or short novel.
